

Communities Against Nuclear Expansion (CANE)

CANE is a group formed by people living in communities near to Sizewell to oppose any further nuclear expansion. CANE aims to protect people and the environment, particularly locally, from the threat of nuclear expansion.

CANE aims to:

- Raise public awareness
- Identify key issues of concern
- Challenge any proposals for nuclear expansion on the Sizewell site
- Support the long-term protection of the local environment
- Call for open and consultative decision making

New members who agree with these aims are welcome to join the group and take part in members' meetings where key decisions will be taken in accordance with our intention work democratically and openly.

A full version of CANE's aims and objectives is available on request or on the website: www.suffolkcane.org.uk

There will be an annual membership fee of £2.00
